HIGH STEAM SPEED AT SEA

As to the speed of the future, I recall impossibilities written about twenty-five years ago. It was well written, and possibly it was generally correct, but one operation, which was cited as impossible of accomplishment, was that of propelling a steamer at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour across the ocean. At that time the Atlantic had never been crossed by a screw steamer at so high a rate of speed as fifteen miles an hour, the Scotia being the fastest liner in those days, she having crossed the Atlantic at an average rate of fourteen and one-third knots. Steaming across the ocean at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour might, therefore, well have been looked upon at that date as impossible, but today there are steamers which have reached that speed, and there are others in course of construction which may probably exceed that rate across the Atlantic.

Although, roughly speaking, the power required to propel a steamer varies with the cube of the speed, yet before a third of the next century expires another increase of at least 50 per cent in ocean speed may safely be prophesied. How this is to be accomplished it would be too hazardous to attempt to surmise; but I may point out how I think it may not be done, and that is by carrying and handling 5000 tons of bunker coals in a hull drawing nearly fifty feet of water. The model of the ocean steamer of the next century will probably be that of a very much enlarged "destroyer" of great breadth and length and small draught of water forward.

Lighter and stronger materials will compose the structure, which may be moved by multiple propellers, possibly working in a tunnel, so that a number of wheels could be worked by a separate shaft actuated by rotary motors, as the sizes on screw shafts and engines and now under construction are perilously large; or the motive power may be produced by compressed air or gas. Then, the form of least resistance probably being discovered, the hull, broad and light in comparison with the augmented dimensions, will rise on top of the waves rather than pass through them. The rolling and pitching may be more severe than at present, but with improved cabins and a shortened voyage, the difference may not be noticed. The construction of a steamer of 65,000 tons will probably not trouble the constructors of the future nearly as much as did the building of the Great Eastern those of the past.
There will be infinitely less labor, both mental and physical, than was required for the construction of a great ship in those days.—Cassier's Magazine.

Fortune in Royalties.

The amount of money paid by the Neill Company in royalties far exceeds that of any other dramatic organization that has ever attempted to tour this country. The author of such striking successes as "A Bachelor's Romance" demands the sum of $500 per week for the use of her play, and an equally high figure is paid for the right for the Neill Company to present such plays as "A Gilded Fool," "A Parisian Romance," "Amy Robsart," "Madam Sans Gene," and a dozen others of equal importance. This company has the exclusive rights to present these plays in America.

"THE LOSS OF GOLD IS GREAT; The loss of health is more." Health is lost by neglecting to keep the blood pure, but it is gained by purifying, enriching and vitalizing the blood with the great health restorer, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands who thought health had been permanently lost have been made perfectly well by taking this great medicine. Your experience may do the same.
Hood's Pills are gentle, yet always effective.

Japanese Want Instruction.

Wailuku, Nov. 25.—About two dozen Japanese tots of both sexes were marched into the Wailuku government schoolhouse last Friday by a recent arrival (a Japanese) with the strange request that the children be taught in the English branches in the morning session, while he will teach them the doctrines of Buddha during the afternoon Prof. Moore took the children under advisement, and will write to Honolulu about the matter.

Nahiku Road Progressing.
Wailuku, Nov. 25.—Mr. Wittrock, who is to succeed H. Z. Kaipao as deputy sheriff of the Hana district, was in Wailuku this week and returned to his district last Wednesday. He reports that the Nahiku road is in a fair way to completion and that carriages will be running between Nahiku and Hana early next year.

The notion that skyscrapers are of modern American design is controverted by Prof. Lanciani, who notes that in ancient Rome, in the time of Augustus laws were passed (on the ground of danger from fires), against the high buildings, some of which reached an altitude of ten or twelve stories.

the news for 75 cents a month.
